Drive against poppy cultivation

ROING, Mar 04: A massive operation against illegal poppy cultivation was carried out by the administration in Anpnum, Bijari and Kalapani areas under Dambuk sub-division wherein poppy plantations in more than 130 plots were destroyed.

The Gaon Burahs of various villages and student leaders of Dambuk circle took active part in the operation and helped the team headed by Paglam Circle Officer E.Yirang and Superintendent of Tax and Excise B Yirang in identifying the opium cultivation plots.

More than 60 persons were engaged in the massive operation during over the period of 3 days.

Similar drives were carried out in January and February this year in which a total of 226 plots were cleared from opium cultivation in Bijari area and 108 Anpnum village. DIPRO

IWD to be celebrated on Mar 8

ITANAGAR, Mar 04: The International Women's Day will be celebrated on March 8 by Arunachal Pradesh State Commission for Women, (APSCW), Itanagar in collaboration with Arunachal Pradesh Social Welfare Advisory Board (APSWAB), Women & Child Development Department (WCD) and Arunachal Pradesh Women Welfare Society (APWWS).

Marking the day a mass procession will be carried out from Mopin Solung Ground, Zero Point, to Vivekananda Hall, RKM, Itanagar. It will be followed by a sensitization meeting on "Planet 50-50 By 2030: Step it up for Gender Equality", informed a release.

Pul's team ready to take charge

ITANAGAR, Mar 04: Kalikho Pul's council of ministers is being sworn in on Saturday, 7 PM at Raj Bhavan.

The probable names in the list include Pema Khandu, Kumar Wai, Markio Tado, Chowna Mein, Wanglin Lowandong, Kamlong Mossang, who were part of the deposed Tuki ministry.

TN Thongdok who was the deputy speaker is also in the probable list along with Jarkar Gamlin and Kameng Dolo.

BJP's Tamio Taga's name is also making the rounds in the tentative list.

Notable name missing from the probable list is Pasang Dorjee Sona who had come up with an impressive performance as Parliamentary Secretary, Tourism before the 2014 elections and one of the main leaders that revolted against the Tuki govt.

However, there has been no official communication on who will be inducted.

Though the BJP has not officially commented but it is reported that they want a bulk in the new ministry. It remains to be seen who is finally inducted in the ministry but with the probable names, it does not look like there is going to be much change from the earlier Congress Ministry.

The Chief Minister Pul took charge of Arunachal on Feb 19, after a yearlong political battle that saw imposition of President's Rule and vertical split of Congress Party.

On Thursday, the Chief Minister along with 29 Congress MLAs had defected to People's Party of Arunachal.

Brave heart recuperating, Orgs seeks stern punishment

ITANAGAR, Mar 04: The brave School girl who survived an attempted rape on Feb 26 is recuperating at the RK Mission Hospital.

Dr Lenin Ligu, Orthopedic Surgeon, who is taking care of her, said that she is responding well to the treatment. The Secretary of RKM, Swami Vishveshananda visited the girl today and enquired about her wellbeing. The mother of the survivor said that her daughter is a fighter as she hoped that she will be better soon.

Meanwhile, the alleged accused has been identified as San Sonam Waii and is currently in Police custody.

Arunachal Pradesh Women's Welfare Society (APWWS) has called for early charge sheet and stringent action against the man accused of attempted rape of a school girl on Feb 26 in Itanagar resulting in severe injury to the girl. The Society said that there should not be any scope for leniency in such cases. The Society made these demands after visiting the brave survivor at the RK Mission, where she is currently recuperating.

The Society has also coordinated in extending legal help through the Arunachal Pradesh Legal Services Authorities, who sent a lawyer to meet the family today at the hospital. The society further said that compensation should be given at the earliest to the girl by the state government as applicable.

Society's President Gumri Ringlu has further appealed to the people of the state to protect the identity, by not sharing the photographs of the under aged girl on social media networking sites and media as it violates the provisions under Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act.

Meanwhile, a team of Arunachal Pradesh State

Commission for Women (APSCW) and Arunachal Pradesh Social Welfare Board (APSWB) led by chairpersons Mitali Tingkhata and Marina Nido respectively visited R.K.M Hospital to express their solidarity and support to the 14 year old girl.

The APSCW and APSWB teams assured the victim and her family of full assistance and also urged them not to withdraw the case under any pressure. They also requested the Secretary R.K.M Hospital, Swami Vishveshananda to allocate a better cabin to the victim with best service and concessional treatment. Accordingly Secretary RKM obliged to the appeal.

Meanwhile, the APSCW and APSWB have vehemently condemned the crime meted on the girl and appealed for strong legal action against the culprits involved.

APCC chief blamed for political crisis while Congress blames Governor ITANAGAR, Mar 04: Arunachal Pradesh Congress Committee (APCC) president Padi Richo has been blamed for the political crisis in the state.

"The damage has been done by the Congress party itself. It is all because of the biasness of APCC President. He was unbiased and had not sided with Nabam Tuki despite of the fact that Kalikho Pul had the majority, the situation would not have arrived. We would still be with Congress, if not for him," accused Basar MLA Gojen Gadi.

"Till March 2, we have been with Congress. But then all our moves were being termed wrong. What else could we do if our own party disowns us?" he lamented.

"The Congress always blamed Pul that he would form BJP government but he proved them wrong by joining PPA instead," Gadi said.

Also speaking, Yachuli MLA Likha Saaya questioned the unyielding ways of former Chief Minister Nabam Tuki during the political stalemate.

"He could have just humbly handed over his position like his predecessor Late Jarbom Gamlin did. Why could not he sacrifice when he was a party loyalist?" he lamented.

Both the MLAs disowned their expulsion from the Congress party saying that the letter only had the signature of the state general secretary Tamchi Tagar.

"The expulsion letter has not been signed by any of the high command or the APCC president," Gojen Gadi said.

Adding to the point, Saaya said, "There is mockery of politics in the state. No rules or regulations are being followed here".

They also cried foul on the conduct of the Congress Party saying why they were being singled out of the total members who joined from Tuki camp. (Contd. on P-5)

CM seeks corrective measures on CMUHS

ITANAGAR, Mar 04: Chief Minister Kalikho Pul on Thursday suggested corrective measures for the Chief Minister's Universal Health Insurance Scheme (CMUHS), to make it more relevant in order to fulfill the main objective of providing free medical treatment to its beneficiaries.

The Chief Minister was informed about the shortcomings in the insurance scheme when he was interacting with indoor patients at Samaritan Hospital.

Much of the medical expenses were pocketed from the insurance beneficiaries, while only a minor portion was covered by the scheme, the Chief Minister observed. (Contd. on P-5)

PA Sangma passes away, Arunachal mourns

ITANAGAR, Mar 04: Former Lok Sabha Speaker Purno Agitok Sangma died of a heart attack in New Delhi on Friday. He was 68. Parliament sources said the end came this morning after he suffered a heart attack.

Lok Sabha Speaker Sumitra Mahajan announced the news of his death in the House, which was adjourned for the day.

Chief Minister Kalikho Pul has deeply mourned the sudden and sad demise of PA Sangma, former Speaker of Lok Sabha, former CM Meghalaya and MP who breathed his last following a heart attack at his Delhi residence on Friday. (Contd. on P-5)

Govt. enhances wages of contingency staffs

ITANAGAR, Mar 04: To improve the living standard of working class and to create a strong work force, Chief Minister Kalikho Pul has decided to enhance the minimum salary of contingency staffs in all departments. The enhancement will be from the existing Rs 4500 to Rs 6000 for unskilled and Rs 7000 for skilled workers.

The enhanced salary will also affect the five-yearly enhancement scheme of workers which has now been increased to Rs 2000 from the existing Rs 500. These revised labour wages is much higher than the present wage of the National Floor Level Minimum Wage (NFLMW), which is Rs. 160 per day.

The idea behind the hike in wages, according to the Chief Minister, is that while the regular government employee gets travel and dearness allowances and medical reimbursements, the contingency and the casual staffs are deprived of such benefits.

Pul made the decision after consultation with work departments and shared his views to the Labour Commissioner on Thursday, who was asked to immediately work out modalities for its implementation. (Contd. on P-5)

Declined Arunachal Pradesh Chief Minister's post: Kiren Rijiju

ITANAGAR, Mar 04: Union Minister of State for Home Kiren Rijiju today said he was offered the post of Chief Minister of Arunachal Pradesh but he declined as he did not want to get involved in state politics.

"Chief Minister Kalikho Pul offered me the post first but I declined. He wanted me to lead the new government but I did not want to switch at this point of time because I have been given a mandate to represent people of the state in Parliament and I am doing my duty," he told reporters at the sidelines of an event at Rajiv Gandhi University at Doimukh, near here.

Rijiju also appreciated Pul saying that he is not a selfish person.

He said Prime Minister Narendra Modi had given him responsibility as a minister which he had to discharge for the country and he would get the maximum benefit for Arunachal Pradesh.

Rijiju said he is not interested or involved in state affairs but only interested in the welfare of its people and asserted that all possible help would be provided by the Centre to the people of Arunachal Pradesh.

"Who became the chief minister and who runs the state is not important for me. I have been given mandate by the people and I care for them. Which party rules the state does not make any difference to me. My perception is my conduct," he said.

On rumours that he had appointed his brother-in-law as secretary to the Government to gain political mileage, Rijiju said an IAS officer cannot be stepped from being appointed.

"I have not made any IAS officer. They must be appointed somewhere or the other. I have so far not appointed any OSD, PS or PA from my family. This is my principle," he said.

On whether there is possibility that the new Arunachal government would merge with BJP, he said he is not interested.

"When I became MP, people across party line voted for me. I am not concerned for MLAs or parties. My concern is for the people of the state.

The Centre, he said, is providing additional money specially for Tirap, Changlang and Longding districts. Money was also being provided to the state for modernisation of police forces, police stations and for procurement of arms and ammunitions.

"We will give extra money for other necessary requirements. For non-plan and capital expenditure which is required for the basic welfare of the Arunachal civil police, I want to extend best possible help to modernise state police," he added.

"There is nothing like special package... Whatever is required will come from the Centre. The government should submit proposals and we are ready to help," Rijiju said.

The union minister said besides normal budget he would try to get some extra for Arunachal. PTI

Inter-college youth festival begins at RGU

Create brand Arunachal: Rijiju

ITANAGAR, Mar 04: A three-day Inter-College Youth Festival has kicked-off at Rajiv Gandhi University Rono Hills Doimukh on Friday amidst competitive temperament.

Hundreds of students from various colleges across the state are taking part in festival of competitions. Three-day festival will unfold lots of activities such as literary and sports competition besides showcasing colorful cultural and musical events.

Attending the inaugural function of the festival on Friday, Union Minister of State for Home Kiren Rijiju called upon the participants to create "brand Arunachal" to end racial discrimination in mainland India. "We have to create our image and brand Arunachal, to let world know where we are from" said MoS Home while encouraging the participants for perfection.

MoS exhorted that Arunachals are yet to create their own image in outside world; resulting in people in mainland India having lesser knowledge about the people and state.

Rijiju encouraged the students to excel in their respective fields and profession to build state image so that Arunachalees have their own identity.

Outlining the significance of work culture, he said, "We look down on people who work odd job, this is in our mindset, if we start respecting and honouring all these people who work real job, that's a dignity of labour".

He further added that Universities and Colleges are the engines of the society. It is the platform where thought provoking ideas, innovation and creativity are born. He later officially declared the commencement of Inter College Youth Festival and wished everyone involved to have fun.

Professor Tamo Mibang Vice Chancellor, RGU in his address encouraged the participants to showcase and highlight their talents as well as the culture and tradition of their native land.

He hoped that the festival will bring unity and fraternity among the participants of various colleges of Arunachal Pradesh and will be an ideal expression of a pan-Arunachal identity (with input from Massom RGU).

ITANAGAR, Mar 04: Yukar Thichak bagged the first gold medal for Arunachal Pradesh in weightlifting in the National Level North-East Games being held in Imphal, Manipur on Friday.

He clinched the gold medal in men's 62 Kg category. Lifters from the State also bagged one silver and one bronze medal and Judokas bagged five medals, including two silver and three bronze medals, on the day-three of the Games taking the state's total medal tally from yesterday's 7 (Sil-5, Br-2) to 15 (G-1 Sil-8 Br-6).

Thinchai Wangsu won the weightlifting Silver in men's 62kg category and Posen Kongkang won the bronze medal in women's 53 Kg category.

In Judo, Wangdong Lowang and Silom Tesa won a Silver medal each in men's 55 Kg and women's 52 Kg category respectively. The bronze medalists were Mirem Tayeng in men's 66 Kg, Kabin Doyum in women's 48 Kg and Madin Hina in men's 60 Kg category.

On Thursday, Judokas bagged four medals-2 silver and 2 bronze.

Ayo Mipi and Tachai Manham bagged a silver medal each in women's 40

Table Tennis player Keto Linggi in action

Ghanashyam Chetry (48 Kg).

Gumin Gara (63 Kg), Biri Taro (70 Kg) and Daniel Koyu (75 Kg) have entered in the semi-finals.

In Table Tennis, Arunachal beat Nagaland 3-1 in a league match in Men's team event while the State lost 2-3 to Mizoram in another Team league match.

In women's Table Tennis, Arunachal lost 0-3 to host Manipur in a league level Team match on Friday.

The women's football team from the state trounced Sikkim 6-0. The team lost 1-2 to Tripura and 0-6 to Manipur their earlier two league level matches played on Thursday.

In men's football, Arunachal drew 1-1 with Manipur but lost 0-4 to Mizoram in their second league level matches on Thursday.

The diva, 46, has left Capitol Records to reunite with longtime friend and Epic's chairman/CEO LA Reid, reported E.A. Showbiz.

Veteran actor Manoj Kumar to get Dadasaheb Phalke award

NEW DELHI, Mar 4: Veteran actor-director Manoj Kumar, best known for his patriotic films "Purab Aur Paschim", "Upkar" and "Krantii", will be conferred the Dadasaheb Phalke award for his contribution to the film industry.

The 78-year-old actor became the 47th recipient of the award, the highest recognition in Indian cinema which consists of a golden lotus, a cash prize of Rs 10 lakhs and a shawl.

The actor is best known for his films "Hariyali Aur Raasta", "Woh Kuan Thi", "Himalaya Ki God Mein", "Do Badan", "Upkar", "Pathar Ke Sanam", "Purab Aur Paschim", "Shaheed", "Roti Kapda Aur Makaan" and "Krantii". Kumar was born as Harikrishna Giri Goswami in Arabhattabad, which was then a part of Pre-Independent India.

He initially started as a romantic hero following his debut in 1960 with "Kaanchi Ki Gudii" but later shifted focus to acting and directing films with patriotic themes so much so that fans started calling him "Bharat Kumar".

The actor won a National Film Award for "Upkar" and was honoured with the Padma Shri by the Government of India in 1992.

Divya Kumar: 90s music shouldn't be recreated

MUMBAI, Mar 4: Bollywood playback singer Divya Kumar says the trend of re-creating iconic songs from the 90s is not a healthy one as the tracks have emotional value attached which cannot be modernised.

Divya, who sang the chartbuster "Jee karda" number from "Badlapur" last year, feels adding a part portion to the re-created song takes away the purity which the original track has.

"For me, the 90s is a very emotional era. The essence of 90's music cannot be brought back...It was very pure, you can't add rap to it and make it modern."

"Aashiqui 2's soundtrack was successful because they didn't recreate any of the hit tracks of the previous films. They created new melodies which were in the similar zone. I am completely against the recreation of 90's songs. I think those should not be touched," Divya told PTI.

The singer has lent his voice to hit songs like "Maston ka jhund" from "Bhaag Milkha Bhaag" and "Sunn saathiyaa" from "ABCD 2". It was however, "Jee karda" which brought him to instant fame.

Divya feels a Bollywood song has to be a hit if it wants to reach out to maximum people even though the independent music scene in the country is slowly flourishing.

"Jee Karda" was a super hit song because it reached out to many people. Even Varun Dhawan pushed it and promoted me too. The independent music scene is slowly emerging again, but as long as we depend on Bollywood music, we need hit songs to reach as many people through music."

Divya has sung the song "Binu baadar" in the Priyanka Chopra-starrer "Jai Gangaajal", which hit screens today. The singer says he had a great time recording the track for music composer Salim-Suleiman, with whom he worked for the first time.

"I had a great time recording the song with Salim-Suleiman. The song comes at a point in the film where Priyanka is bashing goons... I had to pronounce 'Binu baadar' in a certain UP style, and the lyricist also helped me with it. Prakash Jha was there. The song has come out really nicely," he said.

Residents decry lack of drinking water, electricity

Prafulla Kaman
PASIGHAT, Mar 04: Various Government offices and school located at Gumin Nagar area under Ward-12 here are without basic facilities, like water and power supply and other requirements. Reportedly, Government offices, including Deputy Director of School Education (DDSE), Shikshak Sadan, Bakin Pertin Memorial Govt UP school are facing the problems which are causing concern among the officials as well as the local residents. Councilor (Ward-12) of Pasighat Municipality Kangge Moyong rued the lack of response from the previous government despite submission of several representations in 2013 and 2014 to address these problems. He also approached the then Adviser to Chief Minister, Bosiram Siram to take up the matter with state government. Expressing his disappointment over the poor infrastructure and lack of facilities in the government offices at Gumin Nagar, the councilor has drawn the attention of Chief Minister Kalikho Pul and prayed him to solve the problems immediately in the greater interest of the local people. Many pockets of Ward No 12 are yet to be covered with drinking water supply and electricity affecting more than 300 families. Moreover, ring-well and construction of overhead water tanks and extension of power line are long pending demand of the local residents.

Rampant forest land encroachment causes concern

TEZU, Mar 04: After receiving report from the villagers of Wakro circle under Lohit district regarding encroachment of forest land by Chakma people, a team headed by Sub Divisional Officer (SDO) Gautam Hazarika and ASP Guni Pertin visited the area. During the visit they found that there is rampant encroachment in going on in Tengapani and Khamlang Forest Division.

About 500 numbers of Chakma families have illegally constructed huts in the said areas and have cleared huge junk of forest land for cultivation, informed SDO Hazarika. An operation was carried out with the help of CRPF and IRBn Jawans. During the operation PRI members and villagers also extended their help. DFO Namsai and DFO Jairampur were also present. The committee headed by SDO has taken up the matter with the concerned authority for immediate eviction of the encroachers. The committee will submit a report to the Deputy Commissioner. Meanwhile the villagers of the surrounding areas are also putting pressure on the administration for early and immediate necessary action so as to save their forest land from unwanted and illegal encroachments. Summer Leadership Programme at the Doon School, June 2016

Registration is also opened for 'Open Morning Programme' and Bespoke Individual Tutors for Prospective Parents and their Sons
 Monday, 22nd February 2016 - The Doon School, India's pre eminent boarding school and alma mater of stalwarts like Rajiv Gandhi and Arunav Ghosh amongst many others has announced its Residential 'Summer at Doon Leadership Programme' from 1st June to 15th June, 2016 at The Doon School's beautiful estate in Dehradun, India. The programme is open for all aspiring young boys and girls in grades 9-12 who are passionate about making a positive impact on the world around them. Applications for this programme closes on April 15, 2016.

The Doon School is also delighted to welcome prospective parents and their sons to see the school and meet the admissions department and tour the school either as part of a small group, a bespoke tour or as part of the Open Morning programme which was successfully piloted in November 2015. The school has two entry points at Class 7 and Class 8 only. Benchmarked with the world's leading youth leadership programmes, this dynamic and thought provoking course will be a blend of Socratic dialogues, leadership case studies, creative experiential learning, motivational lectures, outdoor adventures, self-reflection and group interaction. A critically important element will be social service and social responsibility, and their relationship with leadership. This programme will ensure that boys and girls receive a profound understanding of what successful leadership is all about and what is required to demonstrate it in the twenty-first century in the context to developing society and an increasingly globalized world. The course will be taught by specialist staff from Aspire, in conjunction with the teaching community from The Doon School. "The Doon School has long been associated with innovative thinking and leadership and is passionate about being at the forefront of educational opportunity for its students. The Summer at Doon leadership programme builds naturally on The Doon School's mission since its founding in 1935, which is 'to attract and develop exceptional students and teachers from all backgrounds to serve a meritocratic India; inspire them to be just and ethical citizens; train them to be wise and principled leaders; and prepare them to enter one of the strongest fraternities - for life.' said Dr Peter McLaughlin, Headmaster, The Doon School. The course opened in 2014 and received rave reviews. A past parent has said, "My daughter was overwhelmed with emotion, when they took part in a community service project to a village adopted by the school. She participated in building a brick house and toilet for an old widow living alone with her granddaughter in a thatched hut without a toilet. It is not just about teaching them to fulfill their aspirations, but about them developing a sense of gratitude for what they have. No words can thank you for your initiative and vision."

For more details about the Summer Leadership programme, email Ms Abia Qazilbash - summer.doonschool.com or Tel. +91-(0)135-2526516 or view the website www.doonschool.com/summer.doonschool For further details about the Open Morning Programme and bespoke individual tours as well as all admissions enquiries please do not hesitate to contact Mr Madan Kothari at admissions@doonschool.com or telephone him at: +91 135 2526406 or mobile: +91 8979639477

Important election

The Election Commission on Friday announced the schedule for the forthcoming Assembly elections in four States and one Union Territory. The States are Kerala, Tamil Nadu, West Bengal, Assam and Puducherry. Assam will go to poll in two phases on 4th and 11th of April. Tamil Nadu, Kerala and Puducherry will go to poll in a single phase on 16th May. The Counting for all Assembly Constituencies in all five States will be held on 19th of May. With the announcement of the poll schedule, the model code of conduct has come into force. Around 20 crore voters will participate. The coming assembly election can be virtually termed as a mini parliament election.

The stakes are especially high for BJP. The ruling party has been facing severe backlash over poor governance and their overzealous nationalism. The arrest of JNU students on sedition charge and death of dalit Phd scholar Rohit Verma has not gone down well with the public. These issues will definitely hurt prospect of BJP in the coming election. The BJP is desperate to win the assembly election as they are worried about their number in Rajya Sabha. The opposition parties which are in majority in the Rajya Sabha have managed to use it to their advantage. If BJP wants to improve its strength in Rajya Sabha then they have to start winning assembly elections. Also if party performs poorly in the assembly election, the momentum will shift to opposition. In the long run this will hurt the prospect of saffron party.

Poverty is the biggest challenge for environment: PM

NEW DELHI, Mar 4: Asserting India's stand in tackling climate change, Prime Minister Narendra Modi today said same set of rules cannot be applied to all countries "uniformly" even as he identified poverty as the biggest challenge for environment.

PM Modi said sometimes the concern for environment was defined "narrowly" while making a strong pitch for "climate justice", addressing a conference on sustainable development which was attended by Chief Justice of India TS Thakur among others.

Suggesting a balanced approach in combating climate change, he said every country has its own challenges and ways to dealing with them and "If we apply the same set of rules for all countries and for all people, it will not work."

Noting that a path becomes sustainable, if all stakeholders are benefited, he also added a word of caution saying the stake should be natural and inherent and it "cannot be stretched to include those who may be working with ulterior motives."

"India has been maintaining that the developed countries have been historical polluters and they should contribute more to address the problem of climate change," the Prime Minister said.

"The rule of law dictates that no one can be punished for another's misdeed. We need to recognise that there are many people who are least responsible for the problem of climate change. They are also the people who still wait for access to modern amenities," he said.

He said the poor, vulnerable and marginalized groups have fewer resources to cope with climate disasters and that their present and future generations are also burdened by laws and agreements on environment. PTI

Poll-Bound States

Clinching last minute deals

Political parties in poll bound States are scrambling for 'last minute deals'. After three months of negotiations and declaring it would go it alone, the Asom Gana Parishad has done a U-turn. It has sealed a deal with the BJP in the Assam polls, "in the larger interest of the State, including ensuring a total rout of the Congress". A relieved BJP has now two allies, the other being the Bodo People's Front and is hopeful this north-eastern State may help it make inroads into the region. It has its record win of seven of the State's 14 Lok Sabha seats in 2014 and feels the people of Assam are desperately seeking a change. Observers too feel the tie-up with AGP could hurt the prospects of the Congress, which is facing anti-incumbency, but at the same time the party is banking on its alliance with the AIUDF help it secure its fourth term. Though alliances have finally been worked out, the partners have another hurdle to cross—work out seat-sharing formulae. This may well turn the new found bonhomie sour.

Likewise, in neighbouring West Bengal the three main players are trying to work out poll partnerships, though they haven't been as lucky so far. Like the AGP, the ruling Trinamool Congress had announced it would go it alone. However, it now seems to be having second thoughts. Its joint walk outs on issues with the Congress in the Lok Sabha have raised eyebrows that it may want an understanding with it in the ensuing Assembly election. This after the Grand Old Party is said to have been in the talks with the Left parties for some time and is close to having reached an understanding, which the TMC described as 'a desperate attempt' by the two to remain relevant in State politics! Though the TMC may not like to admit it, but the party is obviously worried with BJP President Shah concentrating on the State for the past one year. While he hasn't scored any gains at the civic level, his diatribe has peeved the TMC and realises that the battle for the State Assembly may not be a cakewalk.

TN Final Tie-Up

In Tamil Nadu too, AIADMK supremo and Chief Minister Jayalalitha may well dilute her stand of going it alone and bat with the BJP this Assembly poll. This again would be under pressure as rival DMK has revived its alliance with the Congress. The AIADMK-BJP talks are learnt to be at the highest level and the former would want the BJP to contest 25 seats where its position is not strong. However, the BJP is said to be bargaining for 60 seats. At the same time, the ruling AIADMK has kicked off its campaign by raising the Aircel-Maxis scandal in Parliament and stalling it not just to hit out at rivals DMK and the Congress but also to strengthen the Centre's hands. This apart, it has raised the popular demand of releasing the five convicts in the Rajiv Gandhi assassination case. While it has sought the Centre's opinion as per Supreme Court's direction, the move is seen to pass on the blame on to BJP if a poll arrangement doesn't work. At its end, the BJP is hoping to have an alliance with Vijaykanth-led DMDC,

Round The States

but the latter may be inching towards the DMK. All eyes would be on how the final picture pans out.

Maharashtra Dance Bars

Enough is enough, is Supreme Court's terse message to Maharashtra Government. With the latter continuing to make a song and dance about granting licences to dance bars, the apex court has issued a deadline—do so by March 15. On Wednesday last, it minced no words and stated: The Maharashtra authorities shall act in accordance with the commander of the apex court and not put any additional condition to stall grant of license to dance bars." It refused to allow Fadnavis government's demand that there be a live feed from a dance bar to the nearest police station, saying "CCTV coverage of the performance area would be a violation of privacy." The Dance Bar Association had petitioned the court after the police imposed 24 new conditions, including putting up a three foot wall between the performance area and patrons' seating area, before allowing them to open dance bars. How many licences will be issued is the big question.

Himachal's Goody

The pitch for holding the India-Pakistan World T-20 match in Dharamasala, Himachal Pradesh is not declared cleared. Till Thursday last, reports suggested that Virbhadr Singh's government wasn't against holding of the match as people in the State were against it for Pakistani terrorists continued to target India. It was also said the Government was concerned over the protest by families of the martyrs/ex-servicemen and wouldn't use any force on the day of the match, March 19. However, after HP Cricket Association President Anurag Thakur called on him, there appears to be a change of heart. Hence the Association meet the families of the martyrs, Singh advised Thakur and let's find a solution. With practical difficulties in shifting the venue at the 11th hour, it is hoped Chief Minister Singh would bail out the BCCI and the nagging suspense is over. If not, neighbouring Delhi is getting prepared as a standby venue. Himachal's loss will be Delhi gain!

UP Army In Cheating Mess

Where is our education system heading? After Bihar, Uttar Pradesh has hit the headlines with mass cheating in the Class 12 Board exams in Mathura and Agra. Students were seen openly copying and relatives climbing walls to help them with chits being passed through windows in a school, causing much embarrassment to the administration. Nine invigilators and a superintendent of a school were suspended in Mathura. On the other hand, the Army has had the most absurd way of trying to prevent cheating. Some 1100-odd candidates for the recruitment exam for soldiers on general duty and in clerical and technical categories being held in Muzaffarpur, Bihar were asked to do so in underwear! Its explanation: there were complaints that many taking the exams were resorting to unfair means through notes, cellphones and Bluetooth devices. The shocking incident has forced the Patna High Court to step in, following a PIL. It has sought an explanation from the Defence Ministry and the Army Regional Office. Wonder how they put up a defence.—INFA

Regressive reservation policy

Dear Editor,

This is in response to Dr.S. Saraswathi's article titled "Pvt. sector job quota"(March 3).

There lies no doubt to the fact that nothing has been more regressive for India than its policy of reservations. This policy is nothing but a means of reverse discrimination. Often an individual belonging to "backward" class supersedes his "privileged" counterpart in the sphere of education or service, despite having an inferior track record. In the process, not only does the criterion of eligibility gets relegated in the background, the pernicious practice also gives rise to a class of "neo-Brahmins". Social justice and equality cannot be achieved through such policies. Rather it only gives rise to resentment and ill-feeling. Reserving seats for the "deprived" is as ridiculous as reserving berths in the Indian cricket team for players of Ranji teams like Goa or Tripura just because they fail to make it to the national side. Not only would the performance of the team suffer, it would also mean gross injustice to the eligible players (who would have to make room for the reserved ones). Similarly national interests indeed get assaulted if ineligible personnel are allowed to don responsible posts. It is indeed sad to note that after causing Himalayan damage to the society through the reservation policy practiced in educational institutions and Government organisations, attempts are being made to extend this laggard mindset to the Private sector as well. Thus, irrespective of caste affiliation, people deprived of proper education due to financial constraints should be given free access to schools and colleges and books. But this is where the positive action should end. Admission to higher education and employment should be based solely on merit.

Let there be wisdom to lead the state in the right direction

Dear Editor,

I would like to state a few words about the importance of a regional party for a smooth state like Arunachal Pradesh. The great sons of the soil namely, Lt.Bakin Perlin, Lt Tomo Riba, Lt Oken Lego, formed the Peoples Party Of Arunachal Pradesh as a regional Party of NEFA In 1976. The principle reason to remain in a regional party is that there will not be any confrontation with the national parties and it may extend cordial relationship to National Parties for the interest of the people of Arunachal Pradesh.

My heartfelt congratulations to Kamen Ringu who has understood the importance of a regional party for Arunachal Pradesh and have kept the flame burning since his joining in the party along with his wife Gurni Ringu and few others. In spite of many unsuccessful election results in the parliamentary and assembly elections, my friend Kamen Ringu had never changed his political colour, as he had the firm belief and have been convinced that a regional party is the only alternative for party system in the state, in maintaining a cordial relationship with the national parties as the state is solely dependent on central assistance.

I also take this opportunity to congratulate Honorable Chief Minister Khaliko Pul and welcome him and his team for landing in an appropriate ground, the PPA. I would like to suggest and wish that our young politicians of Arunachal Pradesh should have a strong will and ideological commitment to serve the state and the party. I have observed and felt that the National Parties do not have a very good opinion on the integrity and determination in the ideological commitments of our young leaders, which is not a matter of honor to the tribal people of the state. And I hope Honorable Chief Minister and his team of energetic legislators will maintain the dignity of the Peoples Party of Arunachal Pradesh.

Therefore I would like to advise young legislators and leaders and party workers of PPA to follow the principles and ideology of Kamen Ringu, Chairman working committee PPA and imbibe his qualities of determination, perseverance, and the selfless sacrifice for the state as a whole and the party in particular.

Lastly, I offer my prayers to the great souls of all the PPA leaders and workers who are not with us today to celebrate this great occasion and I also thank almighty Donyi Polo, for blessing me with longer life to see the party in power again. While rejoicing this great moment, I pray and wish that God almighty to bless the offspring of the state with more energy and wisdom to lead the state in the right direction.

The road ahead

Dear Editor,

Although the new Chief Minister who is highly experienced and gutsy is making all the right noises by refusing to dilute the people centric moves of Governor JP RajKhowa, however the million dollar question still is will Pul withstand the pressure tactics and blackmailing habits of our Legislators, once the full fledged Cabinet Body and a jumbo sized Parliamentary Secretaries are sworn in?

To prove himself different from his other predecessors, the first and foremost thing Pul needs to do is to do away with the policy of appeasement and divide and rule. He should set the motto that it is the quality and not the quantity of tenure which is more important. Late Tomo Riba of PPA, although ruled the State for only 46 days yet he is loved and remembered for saying a big no to corruption in public life and gifted the State with permanent assets such as Shergaon Apple farm, Kamba Dairy farm, a month extra salary for the people in uniform, no Chulla tax. Similarly, late Khandu's short rule flooded Arunachal's markets with hard cash and brought huge development packages especially in road and power sector. Therefore, taking cues from such leaders Pul has not only the herculean task of balancing the needs and aspiration of different ethnic groups and regions but more importantly addressing the mandatory constitutional requirements such as early and time bound constitution of Lok Ayukta, State Human Right Commission, Right to Food and Security Act, addressing the Boundary disputes with Assam and more importantly the volatile Chakma-Hajong issue.

Unlike his predecessors he should refrain from the culture of backdoor appointment and direct all Group A and Group B post including non gazetted post of JEs and JTs to State Public Service Commission. The modus of operandi hitherto adopted by our political bosses to absorb their kit and kin is by the illegal method of one time relaxation of RR and through departmental recruitment process. Such a practice is violative of AP Public Service Limitation Act as well as directives issued by the Ministry of Personal and Public Grievances which Arunachal had adopted in 2009 wherein all category of jobs with pay scale of Rs. 9200 and above falls under Group B category and therefore to be filled through APPSC only. Making the dysfunctional and paralyzed APPSC functional by immediate filling up of the two posts of chairman and a member is the urgent call of the hour as well as the mandatory constitutional duty of the Government. Similarly, the State Information Commission is yet to get its Chairman.

All said and done, Pul's way ahead is full of stress and strains and time alone will tell if the people who are the ultimate judge accepts his leadership with hugs and roses or he is leveled as yet another time pass CM. The short yet effective governance delivered by JP RajKhowa during a short period of President Rule has set a very high level of standards and expectation amongst the people and thereby questioning the effectiveness and necessity of having a democratically elected system of governance vis-à-vis presidential form of governance specially in a cash starved and highly sensitive border State like Arunachal Pradesh.

Our reverence to P.A. Sangma

Dear Editor,

P.A. Sangma's sudden demise has led to a colossal grief amongst the citizens of India and in particular here, in the North East. We pay our allegiance to a man of such honor.

It is gratifying to learn how a simple man from the remote suburb of a distant District of Meghalaya, strived and materialized his dream of serving his people, as a social worker and as a Leader. His Journey from the 1970s as the Vice- President of the Pradesh Youth congress in Meghalaya to the fight for the post of the 13th President of India is a noteworthy. His feat of becoming a nine-time member and the speaker in the Lok Sabha, and his various other achievements are those that needs to be narrated, exclaimed and celebrated. His resignation from the party, NCP, to which he was one of the founding member in 2012, after having faced opposition from Sharad Pawar was of high morale. Though he did not win the Prestigious Presidential Post, he was successful in making the first move of manifesting a leader from the marginalised section.

Perennially smiling, he was indeed a man of masses, relentlessly thriving for the amelioration of the marginalised sections. He was exemplary in making our suffocated voices reach the Parliament in the Capital.

In all the fortunate chances I've had to visit him through my Dad, who was his good friend and a brother. My Dad considered him as his guide and would often remark of his intelligence. They would engage in debates and discussions and there I learnt what a man of profound knowledge he was. Sangma talked ponderously about International Politics, Society and Governance. He was of a righteous kind and his last words to me, when I met him a year back was, urging a change in the Political System in the North East and wishing more young educated leaders to come forward in bringing a change in the society.

I hope his works will not go futile and would be valued in all the years to come.

We pay our awe and lament over our loss; losing a significant man like you. May your family find strength at such difficult hours.

Rest In peace, Sir.

Give the young legislators a chance

Dear Editor,

After lots of speculations, manoeuvring and uncertainty, the Arunachal political situation seems to be heading towards a stable government formation which will fulfil the hopes and aspirations of the people of the state. But the need of the hour now is to form a ministry comprising of experienced and seasoned legislators which will also include new faces who are young, energetic and highly qualified legislators, who will serve the people with full dedication and sincerity. Thus, giving them a larger platform and chance to meet the aspirations of the youth of Arunachal, which comprises a sizeable population.

Four arms smuggler held

IMPHAL, Mar 4: Four arms smuggler were apprehended by troops of 27 Sector Assam Rifles in Churachandpur district, a press statement of IG AR (South) said today.

One country-made 9mm pistol, along with magazine, two live rounds of 9 mm pistol, one fired case and a moped have been recovered from the arms dealers during the February 28 raid, the statement said.

The arrested have been identified as Thaminlan Haokip (35), Nongminthan (23), Thanglan Gangte (28) and Janggam Haokip (38).

All the arrested hailed from Churachandpur district. PTI

Assembly polls in 4 states, Puducherry announced

NEW DELHI, Mar 4: Assembly elections in West Bengal, Tamil Nadu, Kerala and Assam and union territory of Puducherry, with a lot of stakes for Congress and BJP in at least two of them each, will be held between April 4 and May 16, spread over 43 days.

It will be a single-day polling in Tamil Nadu, Kerala and Puducherry on May 16 while it will be in six phases in West Bengal and two in Assam.

Counting of votes in all the states will be held on May 19, Chief Election Commissioner Nasim Zaidi announced today unveiling the poll schedule.

Congress is in power in Assam and Kerala while the BJP fancies itself as being a top contender in Assam in alliance with AAP and some small outfits. The BJP is seeking to emerge as a major player in West Bengal, where there are possibilities of Congress and Left joining hands directly or indirectly to take on Trinamool Congress.

Like in 2011, West Bengal will have polls spread over six phases. The first phase to be held in Left wing extremist affected areas will have two polling dates—April 4 and April 11. The other phases will be held on April 17, 21, 25, 30 and May 5. Assam will go to polls in two phases on April 4 and 11.

Zaidi said two dates in the first phase of polling in West Bengal have been decided keeping in mind the sensitive nature of the area and the availability of security personnel as they would also be deployed in Assam which is also considered sensitive.

He maintained that West Bengal will have polls in "overall" six phases.

While refusing to specify the strength of central forces deployed in West Bengal for the assembly polls, Zaidi said their number has increased as compared to 2011 polls.

He also said following delimitation exercise in Cooch Behar district of West Bengal, 16,000 people who became Indian citizens following of exchange of enclaves with Bangladesh, will be able to cast votes in the polls.

The law which allows EC to hold delimitation exercise to put these people in various assembly and Lok Sabha constituencies came into force this morning.

The EC said due to the delimitation exercise, Cooch Behar has been kept in the last phase of assembly polls to be held on May 5.

As part of measures to ensure neutrality of officials during polls, the EC has already ordered transfer of officials above the rank of sub inspectors and inspectors to be moved out of areas where they have served for over three years. PTI

Union demands early land compensation

Correspondent RUKSIN, Mar 4: The East Siang Unit of Railway Shramik Union has demanded early payment of compensation against acquisitioned land for Broad Gauge railway construction.

The union in a memorandum submitted to the Governor of Arunachal Pradesh JP Rajkhowa on Thursday said that East Siang district administration had already issued draft notification on the acquisition land, but it is delaying in issue of final notification and this was causing great deal of dissatisfaction among the affected families. The union has sought the Governor's intervention for early notification and final survey for compensation of land and other valuable properties thereon.

The Union also demanded the NF railway authority to reserve Group-D railway jobs for the affected families besides awarding them minor construction works. It also demanded a rail station with loading and unloading facilities near Industrial Growth Centre (IGC) at Niglok, said that the IGC would be their major source of household income in future.

It may be recalled that NF railway with the help of East Siang district administration conducted Public Hearing on "Social Impact Assessment" of phase-I work (from 2.60 km to 8.20 km) during June 2015. Earlier, the district administration forwarded the draft notification to the Director Land Management regarding acquisition of land for the railway project.

Farmer's training on livestock held

SEPPA, Mar 4: A farmer's training programme on livestock cum awareness camp was organized by AH & Veterinary department in collaboration with Tabu Welfare Society held at Officer's Club, Seppa on Friday.

Attending the inaugural programme, ADC Bameng, Tamune Messar said that domestic animals are an indispensable part of tribal life from time immemorial and for which training and capacity building on its rearing and prevention from diseases is required to boost rural economy. He advised the farmers to help themselves through hard work and putting all out efforts in rearing domestic animals.

District Veterinary Officer, Dr. Magen Modi urged the farmers to be attentive during the training session with practical application of the knowledge in their day to day life.

The topics of the training programme are important of livestock, vaccination of poultry & piggery, micro chipping etc.

Chairman Tabu Welfare Society, Nano Taniang said that his society is putting all out efforts for giving awareness on two aspects which included rearing of domestic animals and child marriage. DIPRO

Farmers training on fishery conclude

YUPIA, Mar 4: The third batch of three series of farmers training for fisheries planned under State Plan concluded here at FFTC Emchi on Friday.

Attending the valedictory function as chief guest, Commissioner of Fisheries, Huzar Lollen emphasized upon diversification of culture practices and to make aquaculture more market driven. He advised the farmers to explore the emerging opportunities in aquaculture sector and adopt them for sustained and remunerative income. He empathetically urged the farmers to opt for seed production which is a lucrative venture and will help in bridging the huge gap between demand and supply. Availability of quality seed on demand and at right time will revolutionize aquaculture in the state.

Lollen also emphasized for conservation of indige-enous fish species in our open water system and adoption of suitable rules and regulation at local level, prohibiting illegal and destructive fishing and to make conservation a people's movement in the state.

Director of Fisheries, Joyshil Taba in his address explained how the department is striving hard to make aquaculture a promising enterprise. He exhorted upon the participants to replicate the best practices which they observed and found to be beneficial for enhancing production and productivity of fish and fish seed.

Meanwhile, a one to one interactive session was also organized for better understanding of problems being faced by the farmers. Both Commissioner and Director advised the farmers to remain always in touch with the district officers or fishery staff of their area for advice and technical support. They also assured department's support and co-operation in addressing fish farmer's problem and commitment to work for the welfare of fish farmers.

A total of 18 trainees participated in the five days programme which started on Feb 29. Apart from theory classes and exposure visits, practical demonstration on water quality management, identification of fish species, operation of eco-hatchery and net making were also imparted. Discussion were done on identification of problem areas like seed production and rearing techniques, feed management in aquaculture, importance of fish biodiversity, conservation benefits of responsible fishing, different schemes in vogue in the department and pattern of assistance. APCC chief blamed...

(From P-1) "After all these years what I have done for Congress Party, this is what I get as a reward?" Yachuli MLA said.

Meanwhile, APCC in the wake of merger of the Congress MLAs into People's Party of Arunachal Pradesh (PPA), blamed the Governor of Arunachal Pradesh for the political turmoil in the state.

Giving the political developments in the state after formation of BJP-led NDA Government at the Centre in a chronological manner, APCC vice president TC Tok stated that "All the hopes of the people of Arunachal has been killed by the Governor at the behest of the BJP and RSS."

"These leaders who have deserted the Congress party have cheated and betrayed the mandate of the people of the State," the APCC vice president said. "PPA is just a stopover for them. After taking oxygen from it, they will go to BJP," Tok opined.

He asked every member to concentrate in the party works and appeal to the people who had given their mandate to the Congress, not to fear or lose hope.

Former minister and veteran party leader Tako Dabi while sharing his views said, "Congress must play a constructive and strong role as an opposition".

"In the ocean of democracy, many governments come and go. But we should not be discouraged and demoralized for such ups and downs, said former minister Bosiriam Siram. He encouraged the party cadres to stand united and fight back.

Tara Bagang, Chairman APCC Kissan Cell opined for educating the leaders and the candidates about the party principles and ideologies before giving them tickets for election. Kissan Cell chairman said the party is still expecting justice from the Supreme Court in this matter.

Conveying the message of CLP Leaders Nabam Tuki and APCC president Padi Rieho, who directed the party workers and cadres to remain strong, united and vigilant, party Disciplinary Action Committee chairman cum general secretary Tamchi Tahar said the merging of the 30 Congress MLAs with PPA is purely illegal and against the 10th schedule of the Indian Constitution.

"Whatever verdict the court pronounces, the party will abide by it," he said.

CM seeks corrective...

(From P-1) Being inquired, Pul was also informed by the hospital authority that medical expenses were covered in a package, as per the agreement between insurance company and the hospital.

The package may include consultation fee, medicine, cabin charges, food and all other charges during the treatment. But despite all these benefits, patients may be charged separately because certain services may not be covered under the insurance scheme, informed the authority.

Pointing out the lacunae, the Chief Minister questioned the effectiveness of the scheme if it does not cover the entire medical expenses.

"The benefit of the scheme should be complete, and not in piecemeal manner. If there are any shortcomings with the schemes, the hospital authority should suggest corrective measures," the Chief Minister said.

"Once they accept it, they should implement it in its totality. The scheme is for poor people and not for the benefit of the hospital," he said.

The Chief Minister, however, termed the scheme as a novel initiative and assured to carry it forward.

Govt. enhances wages...

(From P-1) In a separate meeting with the Department of Water Supply and Sanitation, the CM stressed on urgent improvement of water supply in the capital city. He opined for identifying alternative source of water like boring well to extract ground water in every sector to meet the water requirement.

Water tanks could be constructed to store the ground water, he suggested. The CM, however, directed the department to work out the expected recurring expenditure of such projects.

While asking to plan out their strategies on short term, mid-term and long term basis, Pul pitched for preparation of comprehensive and result oriented projects. On the side line, he stressed for maintaining the existing infrastructure.

Giving special emphasis on water supply in far flung interior villages, the CM instructed the department concerned to ensure that every household in every village gets sufficient drinking water facility.

During discussions with the department of UD, CM reiterated for taking the clean Arunachal Campaign on a holistic manner.

While directing for identifying waste dumping grounds in all the urban towns, Pul asked UD Department to do a detailed feasibility study for setting up solid waste management and treatment plants in all urban towns. He also directed to identify suitable lands for construction of burial grounds in all the urban towns across the state.

PA Sangma passes...

(From P-1) In his condolence message to former Union Minister of State Agatha Sangma, daughter of the veteran leader, Pul said "with profound grief, I on behalf of the people of Arunachal write to share the grief of losing a true son of the soil, a patriot, a veteran politician of all time, and a man who led from the front and left behind a legacy to cherish".

"In his demise, we have lost a great leader, a tall political figure who served the country in different capacities. Besides, proving his calibre in governance by holding the helms of Meghalaya as Chief Minister, the Congress and later Nationalist Congress Party and National People's Party stalwart went on becoming the first North-eastern to hold the coveted chair of Speaker of Lok Sabha" Pul wrote.

The Governor of Arunachal Pradesh JP Rajkhowa has also condoled the demise of former Lok Sabha Speaker P.A. Sangma.

The Governor said that late Sangma was an outstanding parliamentarian and a profound statesman who made immense contribution towards the nation in various capacities during his long and distinguished career.

Former MLA Nurgang Pinch has condoled his death. Pinch termed late Sangma as a fatherly figure and said his death has created huge vacuum in the minds of every Indian. The Arunachal unit of Nationalist Congress Party observed two minute silence as a mark of respect to the departed soul. "He was co-founder of NCP. He was one of the best parliamentarians. His contribution for national development in all aspect will be always remembered by the people of India," the NCP stated.

The Bharatiya Janata party, Arunachal Pradesh remembered late Sangma as down-to-earth and said his affable nature endeared him to many. Former CM Gegong Apang in his condolence message said late Sangma was one of the most celebrated and tallest leaders of the country especially for North Eastern region. His untimely demise cause greatest loss to the nation especially for North eastern region. The vacuum created due to his sudden death will never be filled in, in the years to come, said Apang.

Appeal for inclusion of CI-IV and V contractors in enlistment rules

ITANAGAR, Mar 04: All Arunachal Contractors' Welfare Association (AACWA) has appealed to the Chief Engineer (Power), Transmission, Planning & Monitoring Zone, for inclusion of class-IV and V categories of contractors in the Department's Enlistment Rules for contractors.

In its representation to the Chief Engineer (P), the contractors association, stated that there was no mention of Class IV and V categories of contractors in the department's enlistment rules which negates the Arunachal Pradesh District Based Entrepreneurs and Professional (Incentives, Development and Promotional) Acts, 2015 notified earlier. It appealed for modification of the enlistment rules so that contractors of those categories too can get themselves registered with the department and participate in the tendering process.

AACWA also appealed for abolition of security deposit system and minimization of Management and Engineering Establishment during the period of enlistment of contractors in the Department in the greater interest of upcoming and petty contractors.

Four Indian nurses among 16 killed as gunmen storm Yemen care home

ADEN, Mar 04: At least 16 people, including four Indian nurses, were killed when gunmen opened fire Friday at an elderly care home in Yemen's main southern city of Aden, security officials said.

Four gunmen stormed the facility in Aden's Sheikh Othman district, killing a guard before tying up and shooting employees, the officials told AFP.

Dozens of stricken family members arrived at the site following the attack, witnesses said. One official said the attackers were "extremists" and blamed the Islamic State group, which has been gaining ground in Aden in recent months.

The dead nurses were Indian nuns, the officials said, adding that the rest of those killed were Yemenis working at the home.

No group claimed responsibility for Friday's attack, the first of its kind in Yemen, where the internationally-recognised government is grappling with an Iran-backed rebellion on one side and a growing jihadist presence on the other.

Yemeni pro-government fighters, loyal to exiled Yemeni President Abdrabbo Mansour Hadi, inspect an elderly care home in Aden after it was attacked by gunmen.

President Abdrabbo Mansour Hadi has declared Aden Yemen's temporary capital as Sanaa remains in the hands of the Huthi rebels and their allies since they seized it in September 2014.

Further east, a suspected drone strike hit a vehicle carrying al Qaeda militants in Shabwa province, killing all four on board, local government and tribal sources said Friday. Only the United States is known to operate armed drones over Yemen.

Al Qaeda and IS have stepped up attacks in Aden despite the efforts of the government and its backers in a Saudi-led coalition battling the Huthis and their allies to secure it.

However, most of the jihadists' attacks have targeted coalition forces and pro-government Yemeni troops.

Late on Thursday, gunmen in Aden shot dead Hussein al-Wuhayshi, a leader of local pro-government militia formed in the south in 2011 to fight Qaeda, along with his brother, a security official said.

On Monday, suicide car bombing in Sheikh Othman hit a gathering of loyalist forces killing four people and wounding five others, according to a security official.

A suicide bombing last month in Aden claimed by IS killed 14 soldiers.

The rebels controlled Yemen's main port city for months before government loyalists pushed them out in July.

Because of the unrest gripping Aden, Hadi himself and many senior officials in his government spend most of their time in Riyadh.

Qaeda has been well-established for years in south Yemen, but now faces competition from IS, which has mounted a series of deadly attacks, particularly in Aden.

In December, suspected jihadists blew up a small deserted Catholic church in Aden, completely destroying the building which was attached to a cemetery and built in the 1950s when Aden was a British protectorate.

More than 6,000 people have been killed in the Yemeni conflict with more than 80 per cent of the population in dire need of food, medicine or other basic necessities, according to the United Nations. AFP

North Korea leader tells military to be ready to use nuclear weapons at any time

SEOUL, Mar 04: North Korean leader Kim Jong Un ordered his country to be ready to use its nuclear weapons at any time and to turn its military posture to "pre-emptive attack" mode in the face of growing threats from its enemies, state media said on Friday.

The comments, carried by the North's official KCNA news agency, marked a further escalation of tension on the Korean peninsula after the U.N. Security Council on Wednesday imposed harsh new sanctions against the isolated state for its nuclear programme.

Kim made the comments as he supervised military exercises involving newly developed rocket launchers, KCNA reported. It did not mention the date of the drills but said the new weapons had South Korea within range.

South Korea's defence ministry said on Thursday North Korea launched several projectiles off its coast into the sea up to 150 kilometres (90 miles) away, an apparent response to the U.N. sanctions.

Kim said North Korea should "bolster up (its) nuclear force both in quality and quantity" and stress "the need to get the nuclear warheads deployed for national defence always on standby so as to be fired any moment," KCNA quoted him as saying.

"Now is the time for us to convert our mode of military counteraction towards the enemies into a preemptive attack one in every aspect,"

North Korea has previously threatened preemptive attacks on its enemies including South Korea, Japan and the United States. Military experts doubt it has yet developed the capability to fire a long-range missile with a miniaturised warhead to deliver a nuclear weapon as far as the United States.

"We urge North Korea to refrain from provocative actions that aggravate tensions and instead focus on fulfilling its international obligations and commitments," said Commander Bill Urban, a U.S. Defense Department spokesman, responding to the report.

A U.S.-based think tank said recent commercial satellite imagery showed new activity at North Korea's Sohae Satellite Launching Station that could be preparations for a rocket-engine test.

Johns Hopkins University's 38 North project, which monitors North Korea, said an image from Feb. 21 showed an unusual convoy of trucks near the vertical engine test stand.

"One possibility is that these vehicles are returning from a delivery of supplies, fuel, or even engine components for testing to the stand," the report said.

North Korea had taken steps at Sohae in past months to better conceal preparations for space launches and engine tests, making identifying preparations for launches using commercial satellite images more difficult, 38 North said.

South Korean President Park Geun-hye on Thursday repeated a stern warning against the North to abandon its nuclear ambitions and said should would work to "end tyranny" by the North's leader.

Last month, Seoul suspended the operation of a jointly run factory project with North Korea that had been the rivals' last remaining venue for regular interaction.

Despite stiff competition across various categories power packed performance by the TVS Racing team helped them win. The passion for perfection coupled with valuable data, design inputs, development of reliable motorcycle models, excellent vehicle dynamics & handling etc. made the team victorious this year.

Arvind Pangaonkar, Head of Team TVS Racing said, "Intense technological inputs and efforts by our riders and engineers have helped us increase the engine performance and reliability. With consistent efforts we have been able to work on a superior class chassis design to provide a machine that can hold its own among the world's best. We look forward to the next session to take on tougher challenges and emerge stronger than ever."

Canada PM, provinces set outlines of carbon pricing deal

VANCOUVER, Mar 04: Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau persuaded the country's 10 provinces on Thursday to accept the concept of putting a price on carbon but agreed the specific details could be worked out later.

The compromise deal was unveiled at the end of a tough day's talks with the provinces, many of which had signalled their opposition to the idea of Ottawa imposing a single price across the country.

Instead, the two sides agreed that mechanisms for pricing carbon would take into account each province's specific circumstances. The two sides will present more detailed proposals at a meeting in October.

Trudeau's Liberal Party won the election last October on a pledge to do much more than the previous Conservative government to curb emissions of greenhouse gases, which are climbing as firms exploit Canada's vast crude-rich oil sands.

"There will be different approaches but pricing carbon is part of the solution that this country and all of its premiers will put forward," Trudeau told a news conference.

The provinces, which enjoy significant jurisdiction over the environment, were wary of Ottawa's intentions and say they should be allowed to cut carbon emissions their own way.

The federal government can unilaterally impose a tax, although Trudeau has been pushing for a pan-Canadian solution.

"There was a moment when the conversation was frank," Trudeau said, promoting Quebec Premier Philippe Couillard to break into a broad smile.

Asked whether a province could avoid a set price for carbon, Trudeau said the matter would be among those discussed over the next six months.

Saskatchewan Premier Brad Wall, speaking to reporters after the talks, said he believed his province's existing carbon capture and storage initiative would count as a pricing mechanism.

"It's a price on carbon for sure," he said, adding: "If there is a notion that comes forward that this (agreement) is some sort of license to pursue a national carbon tax, I will be in disagreement with that."

The previous federal government had pledged to cut greenhouse gas emissions to 30 per cent below 2005 levels by 2030, a target that official figures show is out of reach in the absence of radical measures.

Tibetan schoolboy who set himself alight dies in India

NEW DELHI, MAR 04: A Tibetan schoolboy living in India has died four days after setting himself on fire to protest Chinese rule, the hospital treating him said Friday.

Dojze Tsering died from a cardiac arrest late on Thursday at the hospital where he was taken after setting himself ablaze at a housing settlement for Tibetan refugees in the northern city of Dehradun on Monday.

"He died last night around nine," hospital spokeswoman Poonam Dhandal told AFP, refusing to comment further.

The 16-year-old said from his hospital bed he had a "strong determination to do something for Tibet since my childhood", according to a translation from Free Tibet.

The London-based advocacy group said the teenager was the eighth Tibetan to mount such a protest outside China.

His death came after an 18-year-old Tibetan monk in China self-immolated on Monday to protest Beijing's ironclad control of the Himalayan region.

Radio Free Asia (RFA), which is funded by the US government, said the monk's action was the first such protest in China this year, and brought the total number in the country to 144. Tens of thousands of Tibetan refugees live in Indian settlements, the biggest of which is in southern Karnataka state.

Their presence and that of exiled spiritual leader the Dalai Lama are an irritant in relations between India and China. AFP

Greenland ice sheet getting darker, ups melting risk: study

NEW YORK, Mar 04: Greenland's snowy surface has been getting darker over the past two decades, absorbing more heat from the Sun and increasing snow melt, a new study using satellite data has found.

The results show the trend is likely to continue, with the surface's reflectivity, or albedo, decreasing by as much as 10 per cent by the end of the century.

While soot blowing in from wildfires contributes to the problem, it has not been driving the change, the study found. The real culprits are two feedback loops created by the melting itself. One of those processes is not visible to the human eye, but it is having a profound effect, researchers said.

The results have global implications. Fresh melt-water pouring into the ocean from Greenland raises sea level and could affect ocean ecology and circulation, they said.

"You do not necessarily have to have a 'dirtier' snowpack to make it dark. A snowpack that might look 'clean' to our eyes can be more effective in absorbing solar radiation than a dirty one," said Marco Tedesco from Columbia University in US.

"Overall, what matters, it is the total amount of solar energy that the surface absorbs. This is the real driver of melting," said Tedesco. During a warm summer with clear skies and lots of solar radiation pouring in, the surface starts to melt. As the top layers of fresh snow disappear, old impurities, like dust from erosion or soot that blew in years before, begin to appear, darkening the surface.

A warm summer can remove enough snow to allow several years of impurities to concentrate at the surface as surrounding snow layers disappear.

At the same time, as the snow melts and refreezes, the grains of snow get larger. This is because the meltwater acts like glue, sticking grains together when the surface refreezes, researchers said.

The larger grains create a less reflective surface that allows more solar radiation to be absorbed, they said. The impact of grain size on albedo - the ratio between reflected and incoming solar radiation - is strong in the infrared range, where humans cannot see, but satellite instruments can detect the change.

"It is a complex system of interaction between the atmosphere and the ice sheet surface. Rising temperatures are promoting more melting, and that melting is reducing albedo, which in turn is increasing melting," said Tedesco. The study used satellite data to compare summertime changes in Greenland's albedo from 1981 to 2012. The first decade showed little change, but starting around 1996, the data show that due to darkening, the ice began absorbing about 2 per cent more solar radiation per decade.

At the same time, summer near-surface temperatures in Greenland increased at a rate of about 0.74 degrees Celsius per decade, allowing more snow to melt and fuel the feedback loops.

The findings were published in The Cryosphere journal. PT

Messi hat-trick steers FC Barcelona to unbeaten 35-game Record

BARCELONA, Mar 4: Lionel Messi scored a hat-trick as FC Barcelona took another step towards the La Liga title and set a new Spanish football record of 35 games unbeaten in the process with a 5-1 win in nine-man Rayo Vallecano on Thursday.

Two goals in as many minutes midway through the first-half killed the game as a contest as Ivan Rakitic and Messi netted before Diego Llorente saw a straight red card for a high challenge on Rakitic.

Messi completed his hat-trick after Manucho's consolation for Rayo.

Luis Suarez also missed a penalty after Manuel Turan was also sent-off for the hosts before Arda Turan rounded off the scoring with his first Barca goal.

Barca now lead Atletico Madrid by eight points with Real Madrid a further four points adrift in third with 11 games remaining.

"We played very well and when we are at this level in terms of attitude and intensity, it is very hard for the opponents," said Barca boss Luis Enrique.

Rayo were unbeaten in their seven league games themselves and forced

Barcelona's Lionel Messi is challenged by Rayo Vallecano's Roberto 'Tito' Roman as they vie for possession

Barca keeper Claudio Bravo into a smart early save as the Chilean international flew to his right to turn away Adrian Embarba's drive.

However, Rayo's high defensive line was offering plenty of encouragement to the European champions and it seemed only a matter of time before Barca took the advantage as Carlos made a good save at his near post to deny Messi.

The opener arrived in unusual fashion for Barca, though, as an aimless ball punted into the box was dropped by Carlos and Rakitic was on hand to sweep into an empty net.

The visitors' second two minutes later was straight out of the Barca textbook, though, as a brilliant one-two between Neymar and Messi freed the Argentine to slot home from close range.

Llorente let Rayo's frustration boil over three minutes before the break when he lunged in studs up on Rakitic and was rightly shown a straight red card.

Messi pipped on further punishment for the hosts when he casually rolled the ball home after Suarez had smashed against the post soon after the restart.

Rayo showed some resistance as Manucho nodded home his fourth goal in three game from Bebe's knockdown.

Yet, the hosts momentum was short-lived as they were reduced to nine men when Iurra chopped down Sergio Busquets inside the area after Neymar's free-kick had come back off the crossbar.

Messi passed up the chance to seal his hat-trick to help Suarez in his battle with Cristiano Ronaldo to be La Liga's top scorer.

However, Barca's awful record from the spot this season continued as Carlos made amends for his earlier error with a fine save.

The five-time World Player of the Year had to wait just three minutes more to get his third of the night as Messi sauntered through on goal before slotting past the advancing Carlos.

And Turan rounded off a perfect evening for Luis Enrique's men when he headed home from Jeremy Mathieu's cross five minutes from time.

Rayo are now just above the drop zone on goal difference as Granada struck twice in the final 20 minutes through Youssef El Arabi and Isaac Success to beat Sporting Gijon 2-0.

Real Betis also eased their relegation fears as they took advantage of an Espanyol side ravaged by gastroenteritis to win 3-0.

Mashrafe Mortaza hints he could retire After World T20

MIRPUR, Mar 4: Bangladesh captain Mashrafe Mortaza hinted that he may end his international career after the 2016 season with the ICC World Twenty20 in all likelihood his last global event.

Asked if he has set any targets like playing the 2017 ICC Champions Trophy or 2018 World T20, Mashrafe said that he would not like to stick around for that long.

"I don't think so. One thing is for sure, I will not be playing for a long time. By the grace of Almighty, if I am fit, then I intend to play this whole 2016. After that I don't think there is any big global event for a long time," 32-year-old Mashrafe said during an interaction after a practice session at Sher-e-Bangla Stadium.

For him a career decision, big or small has always been instinctive.

"But from a very young age, I have been an instinctive person. I have never ever treaded the usual fixed path. I live for the moment. Yes, whenever I take the big decision, my teammates will know about it before my family as it is a cricketing decision. When I take any decision, I will make sure that it is convenient for everyone," the skipper said.

Mashrafe is the only player in this team, who has played more than 15 years of international cricket and that is the reason why like a big brother, he shares a fine rapport with the next batch of seniors like Shakib Al Hasan, Tamim Iqbal and Mushfiqur Rahim.

"I guess the biggest reason is that I have started 15 years back. Some of the seniors like Tamim, Shakib and Mushfiqur only came into the side when I was already in the middle phase of my career. My biggest plus point is that I share a fine relationship with everyone.

The revival of Bangladesh cricket happened as new players are empowered more.

"They have a sense of responsibility in them. Even if they fail 10 matches in a row but the intent is to win for Bangladesh, we stick with that player," a proud Mashrafe said.

As a senior statesman, Mashrafe wants the Bangladeshis fans not to treat this game as a "war" even though the emotional quotient runs high.

"Actually emotion is something which is difficult to check but a cricket match is not war for sure. One should know after match, all the players stay in same hotel, chat with each other, exchange pleasantries.

"So I personally don't like equating cricket with war. In Indian team, Yuvraj is a close friend, I share good rapport with Harbhajan," Mashrafe said.

UEFA to introduce Goal-Line Technology for Champions League final

LONDON, Mar 4: UEFA will introduce goal-line technology to its competitors in time for this season's Champions League and Europa League finals, European football's governing body announced on Friday.

A decision to bring in the technology (GLT) in time for Euro 2016 and for next season's Champions League had already been announced in January, but will now also be in place for the Champions League final in Milan on May 28 and the Europa League showdown in Basel, Switzerland, on May 18.

The technology, which determines whether the ball has completely crossed the line, is already used in the English Premier League, Italy's Serie A, the German Bundesliga and Ligue 1 in France.

World governing body FIFA also brought it in for the 2014 World Cup in Brazil after a series of successful trials.

UEFA confirmed in January that GLT would be used in the European Championship in France in June and July and in the Champions League from next season, and added that it would likely ultimately be extended to all UEFA competitions.

However, former general secretary Gianni Infantino, now the FIFA president, has admitted that fitting all grounds with the necessary technology would be a logistical headache, particularly in a competition as extensive as the Europa League.

Even in countries where the technology is already in place, a different system is used in France to that used in England, Germany and Italy.

You wanted suspense, now you've got it: Guardiola

MUNICH, Mar 4: German fans have finally got their wish for a more exciting Bundesliga season and the title race will really hot up when leaders Bayern Munich lock horns with Borussia Dortmund on Saturday.

Bayern's shock 2-1 defeat by Mainz 05 at the Allianz Arena in midweek means a home victory for second-placed Dortmund at the weekend would lift them within two points of the Bavarians with nine matches to go.

Such is the worldwide interest in the top of the table clash, it will be broadcast to 208 countries.

"Everyone wanted more suspense in the Bundesliga. Now you have it so all is well," Bayern coach Pep Guardiola told reporters.

"We are not perfect. Sometimes you have to lose to understand what you need to do in order to become an even better team."

Bayern, who are chasing a record fourth consecutive Bundesliga crown, had an 11-point lead earlier in the season.

The defeat by Mainz and a 2-2 draw at Juventus in their Champions League last-16 first leg, after leading 2-0, have raised alarm bells among the supporters.

"The results against Juve and Mainz were not good but our performances were," said Guardiola who is leaving at the end of the season to join Manchester City.

Bayern's injury problems have receded in recent weeks following the return of winger Franck Ribery and defender Medhi Benatia.

Former Dortmund forward Mario Goetze may have to wait a bit longer to make his comeback despite being fit again following a lengthy absence.

"Mario has to keep doing what he is doing," said Guardiola. "The coach decides who plays."

"He has to be ready to come on when I say 'now'. We have seven forwards and not everyone can play."

"He was out injured for a long time and that is the only reason he has not yet played," added Guardiola.

Sindhu, Srikanth bow out of German Open

MULHEMANNERUHR, Mar 4: PV Sindhu fought her heart out before losing her quarterfinal while Parupalli Kashyap retired hurt midway through his match at the German Open, dealing a fresh blow to his Olympic qualification hopes.

Seventh seed Sindhu, lone Indian in the women's singles, 16-21, 18-21 to fourth seed Chinese Wang Shixian.

With her defeat India's challenge folded at the event.

Already racing against time to seal his Olympic berth, Kashyap was back on the court after recovering from a series of injuries which derailed his preparation for the Summer Games.

However, the Commonwealth Games champion suffered a knee injury during his clash against eighth seed Son Wan Ho of Korea last night and had to retire midway with the score reading 12-21 11-16 at the RWE-Sporthalle here.

Kashyap is being attended by physiotherapist Dr Johnson Solomon but the extent of his injury is still not clear.

"He is fine now but we are waiting for some tests. Only after that, we can say how much time would be needed for him to recover," Johnson said.

Meanwhile, World No. 10 Kidambi Srikanth, seeded sixth, also bowed out of the men's singles event after losing 21-18 18-21 18-21 to 12th seed NG Ka Long Angus of Hong Kong in another pre-quarterfinals match.

Two-time bronze medalist at the World Championship, PV Sindhu is the only Indian survivor at the event after she reached the quarterfinals, defeating Michelle Li of Canada 21-9, 21-17 in a one-sided encounter last night.

Once the world No. 8, Kashyap has slipped to 17th, owing to a series of injuries which started with the calf muscle tear in October last year. He played in the Syed Modi Grand Prix Gold but could not defend the title, bowing out in the quarterfinals after sustaining an abdominal strain.

The Hyderabad lad was named in the team for the South Asian Games which was held in Guwahati and Shillong early last month but after repeated requests to BAI and SAI, he was put out of the team at the last moment.

The 29-year-old had also skipped the Badminton Asia Team Championship to regain his fitness so that he can take a shot at Olympic qualification by fetching crucial points to reach the World top-16 before the May 1 cutoff date.

Jitu Rai shoots Gold at World Cup in Bangkok

BANGKOK, Mar 4: Jitu Rai beat a strong field at the International Shooting Sport Federation (ISSF) World Cup for Rifle and Pistol in Bangkok to win gold in the men's 50m Pistol event. Showing no sign of injury worries, Jitu beat China's former world and Olympic champion Pang Wei to the yellow metal. The Indian shot 191.3 to Wei's 186.5.

Wang Zhiwei, also of China and an Olympic bronze medalist finished third with a final round score of 165.8. India's Prakash Nanjappa shot 549 in the qualification round to finish 17th.

Jitu Rai reached the final by finishing third at the end of the 60-shot qualifying series with a score of 562. Wei led the field of eight top qualifiers with a score of 564, while Zhiwei followed him in second place scoring 563.

Former world champion Tomoyuki Matsuda of Japan was also going to be a threat in the final given his recent form in the Asian qualifiers in Delhi. Jitu did not start strongly in the final. However, he maintained a top-three position throughout.

Wei finally conceded the lead to Jitu after having below par 13th and 14th shots. The following two shots also saw a similar pattern for Wei and from then on, it was Jitu all the way as both the Chinese challengers had a tame end to the 20-shot final. Matsuda, after briefly lying in the top-three, was relegated to fifth place.

After having an incredible run of five consecutive ISSF medals including gold, in a period beginning 2014 to beginning of last year, a period where he also won an Asian Games Gold, there was a lull of sorts from Jitu. Indian shooting fans will hope that this gold will put him firmly on course for bigger challenges that lie ahead in an Olympic year.

Saturday will see the finals of the men's 50m Pone and 10m Air Pistol events. Jitu Rai will look to increase his medal tally in the pistol event while Gagan Narang and Chain Singh will lead India's charge in the Rifle event.

Asia Cup: Pakistan trump Sri Lanka to secure third spot

MIRPUR, Mar 4: Pakistan's batting finally came good as they successfully chased down a competitive total posted by Sri Lanka to win by six wickets in an inconsequential final round robin league encounter of the Asia Cup Twenty20 cricket tournament in Mirpur on Friday.

Batting first, Sri Lanka could manage a decent 150 for four, riding on a century opening stand between TM Dilshan and Dinesh Chandimal.

In reply Pakistan produced a collective batting performance to win the match in 19.2 overs. Umar Akmal (48 off 37 balls) and veteran Shoaib Malik (13 not out) added 56 runs in 6.1

overs to take Pakistan home. Akmal's innings had four boundaries and two huge sixes.

Mohammed Hafeez (14) hit three boundaries before off-spinner Shehan Jayasuriya dismissed him off a delivery that stopped as the batsman failed to check his shot.

Left-hander Sharjeel Khan hit five boundaries and six, in his 31 off 25 balls as he added 35 quick runs for the second wicket with Sarfraz Ahmed (38).

Sarfraz has been the only Pakistan batsman who played consistent cricket in the tournament. After 25 against India and 58 against Bangladesh, Sarfraz's 37 came off 28 balls with six boundaries as he set up the game nicely for Akmal and Malik to provide finishing touches.

Akmal hit a brilliant six to level scores but was dismissed to an outstanding catch by Thisara Perera. It was left to Malik to hit the winning runs but was lucky as the mid-off fielder dropped a dolly.

Earlier, Tillekaratne Dilshan carried his bat through the 20 overs with an unbeaten 75 off 56 balls that was laced with 10 boundaries and a six. He added 110 runs for the opening stand with standing captain Dinesh Chandimal (58) as Sri Lanka scored a decent 150 for four after being put into bat.

Dilshan, who has looked horribly out of touch during the tournament, finally came good although Sri Lanka could not capitalise on their century opening partnership.

Hand-eye coordination works a lot in doubles for us: Sania Mirza

CHENNAI, Mar 4: Tennis ace Sania Mirza, who has won three Grand Slams in a row combining with Swiss Martina Hingis, said "amazing" hand-eye coordination of Indian players was behind their success in doubles.

"In India and part of the sub-continent, the hand-eye coordination is amazing and that works a lot in doubles for us," she told reporters here.

She was responding to a query on the reason for Indian players' (both male and female) success in doubles events.

She said with the level of tennis being played and the increasing level of fitness, India would hopefully catch up soon with other countries. Having won three Grand Slam titles together in a row since winning the Wimbledon last year, Sania and Hingis would hope to maintain their winning streak at the French Open in May.

On her preparations for the clay-court event, Sania said she was leaving for United States and after reaching there, they will devise a strategy.

"After winning three Grand Slams, French Open is probably the toughest slam and the toughest surface and we have to go a long way. Anyhow we have to fight it through," she said.

Talking about the obstacles a girl has to encounter to enter sports, Sania said, "There are lot of obstacles you have to face, especially cultural issues."

Anirban Lahiri off to a fine start, placed tied 11th at World Golf C'ship

DORAL, Mar 4: India's Anirban Lahiri got off to fine start carding a decent two-under 70 to be placed tied 11th at the end of the first round of the $9.5 million World Golf Cadillac Championship, the first WGC event of the year.

The event has no cut and the field has just 66 players.

Lahiri was four behind Scott Piercy and Marcus Fraser, who opened very strongly with 66 each. Tied at 11th with Lahiri were Rickie Fowler, Jamie Donaldson, Hideki Matsuyama and Matt Kuchar.

Playing at the Blue Monster at Doral, Lahiri had three birdies and three bogeys in his first nine, which started on the 10th. But on the second nine, he started with birdies on first and second and then added a third birdie on eighth. Put alongside a bogey on sixth, it meant a two-under 34 and a day's work of 70.

"It was a decent round. A couple of missed putts, but I hit it solid after a shaky start," said Lahiri, who played at the venue and event last year too.

"I am satisfied with the start and there's three more days and a lot of golf still to come."

Lahiri has had a decent enough start to his rookie season with three cuts in five starts and his finishes have all been inside top-40, including T-28 at Career Builder Challenge, where he had a share of the lead after the first day.

"I am getting used to the place and Tour and I'm loving my way around. And it's been a learning each week. I am feeling very relaxed as I go into the next days," he added.

On a day, when the win was just around a 5 to 10-mile-an-hour breeze, some players including world no 1 Jordan Spieth (69) said it was somewhat of a grind. Doral has a standard wind and that at times can be testing.

Lahiri admittedly had a shaky start. He missed a birdie from seven feet and missed a par-putt from five feet for a bogey on 11th, his second hole. But he recovered well with a lovely 30-footer for birdie on par-4 12th.

On a roller-coaster of a stretch with three birdies, three bogeys and three pars in the first nine holes, he birdied 12th from 30-feet, tapped in for another on 15th and holed a 15-footer for birdie on 16th. After bogeys on 11th and 13th, he went into water on 18th and managed to limit the damage to a bogey.

Beginning the second nine with a birdie on par-5, which he reached in two, he added another on par-4 second hitting his approach to six feet. Safe pars with two putts from 40 and 26 feet, he missed a 15-footer for a birdie on fifth.

Lahiri missed a seven-footer for par on sixth, but did manage a birdie on par-4 eighth and then reached the green in regulation and two-putted from 35 feet for par on ninth.

Pakaj Advani maintains winning run, beats Suriya Suwanasingh

COLOMBO, Mar 4: Fifteen-time world champion Pakaj Advani continued his winning run without losing a frame in the Asian Billiards Championship.

Defeating Thailand's Suriya Suwanasingh, 4-0 (101-72, 103-2, 100-27 and 101-18), Advani scored breaks of 81, 85, 61, 80.

In his fourth of five round-robin matches, the Indian sits at the top of his group, with a total frame score of 16-0, having whitewashed his opponents in all four of his matches.

Second in his group is Indonesian, Jaka Kurniawan who lags behind Advani with a frame score of eight, having won 12 frames and lost four in the last three matches he played. The two will face-off tomorrow, the ultimate day of the Round Robin stage.

"Having won all frames of every match without dropping a single frame is the perfect momentum I needed to start this championship. Once we are into the knock-out stages, the pressure intensifies and having the confidence of these wins will surely help ease the pressure," said Advani.

Patna Pirates rout Puneri Paltan, enter finals

Patna Pirates defence in action against Puneri Paltan

NEW DELHI, Mar 4: Riding on impressive shows by Pardeep Narwal and Rohit Kumar, Patna Pirates routed Puneri Paltan 40-21 to enter the finals of the Star Sports Pro Kabaddi League in New Delhi on Friday.

Narwal and Kumar were the star raiders of the match but Patna Pirates' defence also joined the party to win a lop-sided match in the match.

The Pune side was all-out on three occasions in the match. The first two came in the first 12 minutes of the match.

The all-out assault launched by the Pirates was so severe that Puneri Paltan literally lost heart after they trailed 7-25 at the break. They did come back for a brief period in the second half to inflict an all-out on their rivals but that was all they could manage.

It all started with Pardeep Narwal targeting rival skipper Manjeet Chhillar with his first raid with a touch. It was Pardeep Narwal's guile versus Puneri Paltan defence and every time he came up trumps in the first 15 minutes.

His 6-point super raid with four victims and two for the second all-out was the best show by a raider till date and more importantly it came at a crucial juncture.

As the Patna Pirates defence two started hacking the rival raiders one after the other the crowd was stunned and so was Puneri Paltan. They didn't realize what exactly hit them.

The match was almost over in the first half itself. Puneri Paltan seemed to have found out a way for a brief period as Manjeet Chhillar came up with three good tackles to arrest the top three from Patna Pirates -- Rohit Kumar, Pardeep Narwal and Manpreet Singh in a row. That led to the only all-out Puneri Paltan could inflict. But two successful do-or-die raids by Pardeep Narwal and Rohit Kumar brought the Patna Pirates side back on track.

A super ten for Pardeep Narwal before he was rested with a minor injury, seven to Rohit Kumar was a tackle point and in defence Sandeep Narwal (5), Vinod Kumar (4), Sumil (3) and D Suresh Kumar (2) showed the intent with which they subdued the rival attackers.

Puneri Paltan's attack was so toothless that it never bothered their rivals. Ajay Thakur scored his first point in the 32nd minute and that was his only raid point. Surendra Singh failed to open his account and Manjeet Chhillar scoring just two speaks poorly of their attack.

Andy Murray opens Davis Cup defence with easy win

BIRMINGHAM, Mar 4: Andy Murray got Great Britain's Davis Cup defence off to the best possible start with a straight sets win over Japan's Taro Daniel in Birmingham on Friday.

The world number two put the titleholders 1-0 up in the World Group first round tie with a comfortable 6-1, 6-3, 6-1 defeat of Daniel.

The second singles match on Friday will be between Japan's world number six Kei Nishikori and Dan Evans, who was only selected to play after Kyle Edmund failed to overcome a back injury.

Murray inspired Britain to their first Davis triumph in 79 years with victory over Belgium in Ghent in November.

This was the Scot's first match since losing to Novak Djokovic in last month's Australian Open final, opting instead to spend time with new daughter Sophia, born on Friday 7, and wife Kim Sears.

If Britain beat Japan they will face either Kazakhstan or world number one Novak Djokovic's Serbia in the next round.
